REFORESTING URGED TO USE ALL IDLE LAND

Director Of Forest Research Institute, Mont Alto, Advances Idea.

URGES 10-YEAR STATE SCHEDULE

Reforestation is the single solution of the idle land problem in Pennsylvania, Dr. E. A. Zeigler, director of the forest research institute, Mont Alto, declares.

Four million acres, or one-seventh of the entire state area, are idle and should be put to work, because this huge acreage of non-productive land is increasing county tax sales to a degree that is alarming, it is pointed out. According to Dr. Zeigler, it is the duty of the state to assume leadership in reforesting the idle land in the commonwealth, particularly some two million acres of abandoned cleared farmland. He proposes a program of state-wide reforestation under the leadership of the commonwealth, with counties and municipalities encouraged to take part in the movement.

More than three and one-half million acres have been abandoned by Pennsylvania farmers during the past quarter century. The 1930 United States census reported that during the five-year period 1925-1930, open farm land was being dropped from agricultural use at the rate of 108,000 acres per year.

$100,000,000

Normally Pennsylvania consumes about 1,900,000,000 board feet of lumber each year and less than one-sixth of this amount is cut within her borders. As much as $100,000,000 worth of wood is bought outside the state by our people annually in normal years.

Dr. Zeigler believes that Pennsylvania's idle land can be reforested as a self-liquidating public work. He compares the problem in Pennsylvania to that in New York state where the legislature has pledged $1,000,000 a year for the next twenty years to retain its idle lands and restore its forest industries.

He believes that a ten-year plan of state-wide reforestation in Pennsylvania would in years to come support many forest industries that are now idle or abandoned and would give considerable work to unemployed labor, as well as help decrease the rapid rise of tax delinquency in many of our counties.

The bulletin "Reforesting Pennsylvania's Idle Land as a Self-Liquidating Public Work" is available for free distribution from the department of forests and waters, at Harrisburg.

COUPLE WEDS ON WEDNESDAY

Maurice S. Stoops And Miss Minnie Irene Tressler, Of Fountain Dale, Married.

Miss Minnie Irene Tressler, of Fountain Dale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Tressler, and Maurice S. Stoops, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Stoops, Iron Springs, were married on Wednesday in Trinity Lutheran church, Chambersburg, by the Rev. Clarence A. Neal. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Sanders, of Fountain Dale.

The bridegroom, whose father is a former Adams county commissioner, was graduated from Gettysburg high school in 1926 and from the Bliss electrical school, Washington, in 1927. He has been employed as meter man by the Associated Gas and Electric company here for five and a half years.

Mr. and Mrs. Stoops were serenaded by a group of 55 friends at the bride's home in Fountain Dale, Thursday evening.

The couple have gone to house-keeping in an apartment at 262 Baltimore street.

Local Men See Boxing Contests

Officer John H. Keller, Ivan Shanbrook and Allen Leese, of Gettysburg, attended a boxing show in the Philadelphia auditorium, Thursday evening, and saw King Levinsky, hard-hitting Chicago slugger, take a ten-round decision over "Unknown" Winston, of Hartford, Connecticut. Levinsky floored Winston three times in the fifth round.

SMITH HEAD OF COLLEGE PAPER

News Editor Promoted To Editor-in-chief Of Gettysburgian; Annual Banquet Held.

Paul H. Smith, of New Freedom, York county, a junior at Gettysburg college, has been elected editor-in-chief of The Gettysburgian, weekly newspaper of the college, succeeding Gordon D. Whitcraft, it was announced at the annual Gettysburgian staff banquet at the Blue Parrot tea room, Thursday evening.

Smith was promoted from news editor. Mahlon R. Hagerty, Jr., of Philadelphia, was promoted from sports editor to managing editor and will be Mr. Smith's chief aide during the coming year.

The new editors will take charge with the issue next week. The paper will continue to be printed in the modern job shop of The Gettysburg Times.

William S. Hill, of Pottsville, was promoted from associate to business manager; John W. Whetstone, of Waynesboro, to assistant business manager; Leslie Guy, Pittsburgh, to advertising manager, and Conrad Hummel, Easton, to circulation manager.

Other executive members of the editorial staff are Richard Wolf, Bloomsburg, literary editor; Herbert Stare, York, news editor; and Samuel Shreckengast, Harrisburg, sports editor.

New members of the staff selected from the present freshman class include George Heckert, William Bristol, Frank Leighton, C. William Miller, William McIlhenny, Lenoard Cooke, Bruce M. Bare and George Doneho.

Speakers paid high tribute to the retiring editor, Gordon D. Whitcraft; Reinhart B. Ortleib, retiring business manager, and the members of the retiring editorial and business staffs for the successful year enjoyed by the college weekly.

The report of the business manager showed that an indebtedness of approximately $2,000 inherited from a past administration had been largely wiped out during the year and that the financial affairs of the paper are in much better condition than they have been for years.

County Couple Wed 55 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Wolf will observe their fifty-fifth wedding anniversary at their home in East Berlin next Friday.

They were married on February 10, 1878 at the home of Mrs. Wolf's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Baker, Hamilton township, by the late Rev. David Brown.

After their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Wolf resided in Hamilton township for five years; then in Dover for three years and then in Bigmouth for two years, moving from the latter place to East Berlin where they have since resided.

The couple had three children, two of whom are living. They are Herman and Rhine Wolf, both of East Berlin.

Mr. Wolf has held practically every office in East Berlin, with the exception of constable. At present he is assessor of the borough.

Recover Lanterns In Students' Rooms

State police today recovered from rooms of students at Gettysburg college lanterns which had been taken from highway and bridge construction jobs in Adams county. More than 25 lanterns and innumerable signs have been removed recently from highway and bridge construction jobs in the county, and state police said suspicion fell upon college students. No arrests have been made.

Former Student Here Graduates As Trained Nurse

Miss Gladys Romaine Hamm, of Hanover, a former student at Gettysburg college, was graduated from Mt. Sinai hospital, New York city, as a nurse, Thursday evening.

Miss Hamm, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin G. Hamm, was graduated from Hanover high school in 1926, and then spent three years at Gettysburg college.

$154 In Bounty Claims Paid In County, December

One hundred and fifty-four dollars was paid as bounty to Adams countians during the month of December by the Pennsylvania game commission, according to a report of the commission.

Twenty-three gray foxes and sixty-two weasels were caught or shot by local sportsmen and turned over to the game commission for bounties paid for killing predatory animals.

Franklin countians received $168 bounty for the same period, twenty-seven gray foxes and sixty weasels falling prey to wary bounty-hunters.

In York county forty-eight gray foxes and one hundred and eighty-six weasels were killed and a total of $378 in bounty claims was allowed.

BLAZE RAZES CABIN AT CAMP

Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed one of nine wooden cabins at the National tourist camp, between Baltimore street and the Taneytown road, near the National cemetery at 6 o'clock this morning. The loss is estimated in excess of $100 and is covered by insurance.

The camp is operated by Anthony Korn, of Irwin, Pa. He has a caretaker on the grounds during the winter. The caretaker told firemen that all the cabins were locked before he retired on Thursday evening, and that there was no electric current in the cottages.

It is believed that the cabin which was burned was broken into during the night by a vagrant and that it was set afire accidentally.

The cabin which burned was on the end of the row and the wind was blowing away from the others or the loss might have been greater.

The cabin measured 12 feet square and was completely furnished.

The Gettysburg fire company was summoned and extinguished the blaze.

SUPPER IS POSTPONED

The covered dish supper planned by the Woman's league of Gettysburg college for Friday, February 10, has been postponed until March, the date to be announced later.

HOSPITAL REPORT

Glen A. Slaybaugh, manager of the Blue Ribbon orchard farm, near Arendtsville, had his tonsils removed at the Warner hospital this morning.

Congressman Haines' Secretary, Captain in World War, Hampered In Show Rehearsal by Leg Injury

For the first time since he was elected congressman several years ago, Representative Harry L. Haines, of the Adams-York-Franklin district, was not represented in Gettysburg Thursday for his usual contact with his constituents here.

This was due to the fact that his popular secretary, Walter J. Rothensies, suffered an injury to a leg in a basketball game Saturday, which kept him confined, while the congressman himself was busy in congress at Washington and could not leave his duties there to "pinch-hit" for his secretary in Gettysburg. While the injury is not serious, merely a sprain, it is very painful and necessary for Mr. Rothensies to keep the leg bandaged.

The mishap has handicapped him in rehearsals for an American Legion musical comedy, "Sally," to be given by the York post.

Mr. Rothensies, better known to his friends as "Shorty," has had a wide career as soldier, professional athlete and amateur actor. Referring briefly to his career, the York Dispatch says:

"Veteran of numerous amateur theatrical productions in Red Lion in the years that have elapsed since the world war, 'Shorty' makes his debut as a member of the local American Legion company in the role of 'Constantine, Duke of Czechogovinia,' who is employed as

Biglerville Man Is Appointed To New State Office

William R. Whitacre, of Biglerville, has been appointed community market assistant, State Emergency Relief board, at a salary of $1,800 per year.

Mr. Whitacre and family moved to Biglerville, from Philadelphia, last September. He was formerly assistant marketing specialist, located at Philadelphia, for eight years. Later he was a member of the Greater Pennsylvania council and when this group was abolished last year Mr. Whitacre was assigned to the bureau of markets and was an apple inspector.

Mr. Whitacre's appointment was announced with six others added to the state payroll and the announcement of sixteen discharged.

Thief Steals Hat, Overcoat During Banquet

While the annual banquet of the staff of "The Gettysburgian," Gettysburg college newspaper, was being held at the Blue Parrot tea room, Chambersburg street, Thursday evening, a sneak thief entered the place and stole an overcoat and hat, the former belonging to Herbert Stare, York, newly-elected news editor of the college weekly, and the latter to B. C. Shook, shop superintendent at The Gettysburg Times, an invited guest at the dinner.

Charles T. Zeigler, proprietor of the tea room, said he was out of the place for about 15 minutes after the banquet started. It is believed that during that time, the thief entered the front door and took the hat and coat from the rack in the foyer of the tea room.

HAVE BEEN ON LIST SOME TIME

The commission on secondary schools of the Middle States association of colleges and secondary schools has included the Gettysburg academy and the Gettysburg high school on its accredited list for 1933, according to Dr. E. Duncan Grizzell, chairman of the commission which maintains its headquarters at the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia.

In compiling its annual accredited list, which is limited to public and private secondary schools in the middle states, the District of Columbia and the Panama canal zone, the commission does not assume any responsibility beyond that of judging the ability of an efficient secondary school to prepare its students for college work.

"Approval by the commission therefore merely means approval for accrediting to college, and, although any secondary school in the territory covered by the commission may apply for a place on the accredited list, the failure of a school to be included on the list does not necessarily imply inefficiency on the part of the school," according to Dr. Grizzell.

"Secondary schools not on the accredited list may be carrying on their work equally as efficiently as those on the list, but may be excluded solely because they do not prepare their students well, or at all, for college entrance. In some instances omission of schools from the list is accounted for by their failure to apply to the commission for accrediting."

Both schools have been accredited for a number of years.

MT. PLEASANT HERD OWNERS SIGN FOR TEST

J. B. Zimmerman Elected Chairman With District Aides In County.

EXPECT MANY TO BE ENROLLED

Organization of cattle owners in Mt. Pleasant township for tuberculin testing of their herds was effected at a largely-attended meeting at Valley school, Thursday evening. One hundred and thirty-five herd owners attended the meeting at which M. T. Hartman, county farm agent, presided.

Dr. H. C. Kutz, of the bureau of animal industry, Harrisburg, explained tuberculin testing of cattle and the progress being made in Pennsylvania and throughout the country.

Mt. Pleasant township is one of the largest in Adams county and between 175 and 200 herd owners are expected to be signed up shortly for the tests.

J. B. Zimmerman, Gettysburg R. 9, was elected township chairman, and school district chairmen were announced as follows:

To Canvass Districts

Charles F. Myers, Gettysburg R. 8, Brush Run; W. H. Fisher, Gettysburg R. 9, Mt. Superior; Quinton Rebert, Littlestown R. 2, White Hall; Harry Myers, Hanover R. 5, Valley School; Harry S. Weikert, New Oxford R. 2, Mt. Fairview; Lloyd Harman, New Oxford R. 2, Kilpatrick; H. H. Beamer, New Oxford R. 2, Conewago; Charles Baker, Gettysburg R. 9, Bonneauville; B. G. Gallagher, Hanover R. 5, Mt. Rock; William Harner, Gettysburg R. 8, Sweet Home, and Albert Whisler, Gettysburg R. 9, Mt. Vernon.

After the district chairmen have canvassed their districts, another meeting will be held to hear reports of the number of cattle owners who have signed for the tests.

Cattle owners in Union township will meet this evening at Center school to discuss bovine tuberculosis eradication.

Adams Given $6,091 Relief For February

Harrisburg, Feb. 3 (AP)—The state emergency relief board today announced allocations of unemployment relief funds for February.

The allocations total $5,804,662 of which $2,000,000 is state money from the Talbot fund and the remainder federal aid.

The allocations by counties include, Adams county, $6,091, state funds; $315, federal funds; Franklin county, $9,935, state funds; $38,844, federal funds; York county, $33,770, state funds, and $3,207, federal funds.

MRS. BODLEY TO ATTEND SCHOOL

Mrs. Anna Cavanaugh Bodley, proprietor of the Diana Style Shop, Carlisle street, will go to New York city Sunday to attend the H. W. Gossard company corset training school February 6 to 10, inclusive, in preparation for better service to her customers.

"I am convinced," Mrs. Bodley told "The Times" today, "that there is a field in Gettysburg and Adams county for an expert corsetier and with the thought of qualifying further to give authentic and timely corset information and service to my customers I have arranged to take this special course of instruction. Proper fitting of corsets is beyond doubt a very important matter to the well and neatly dressed woman of today. In taking this course, I hope to strengthen the policy of my store of giving intelligent service to my people."

MAROONS FACE
CRUCIAL TEST

Meet Carlisle Dribblers On Latter's Floor In League Contest.

Mechanicsburg	0	3	.000

Gettysburg high school's cagers face their most crucial game of the season tonight when the battle the much improved Carlisle high dribblers at Carlisle for possession of first place in the Southern Pennsylvania interscholastic league.

Coach Tom Zerbe's Green and White basketballers have won four of their last five games, the defeat coming at the hands of the strong Lebanon high team after a close game. Heralded as the best Carlisle team in the past four years, the Cumberland countians boast one of the best defensive teams in this vicinity. Excepting Lebanon high, no team has been able to score more than nineteen points Carlisle.

Evenly Matched

Against mutual rivals Gettysburg and Carlisle have scored victories by nearly identical scores which indicate the teams to be evenly matched.

A week of busy preparation has resulted in the Maroon squad being in tip-top shape for the game. The regular starting line-up of Kitzmiller and Atel, forwards; Trostle center, and Shender and Jones guards, will undoubtedly start. Realizing that victory in this game will probably mean the league championship, the Maroons have trained faithfully for this tilt and are all set for hard battle.

A preliminary game between the scrub teams of the two schools will be played at 7 o'clock.

Carlisle officials are anticipating a record-breaking throng.

GIRL KILLED
AFTER FIGHT

Mother Did Not Want Her To Leave On Visit; Body Identified By Father.

Mincola, N. Y., Feb. 3 (AP)—"You don't want me to go, do you, Mother?" said Mary Helen O'Connor, 15 years old, last Friday as she was about to leave for an overnight visit with a friend.

He mother replied: "Don't pay any attention to my foolish worries, dear."

But last night James O'Connor stood looking into a pile of underbrush near Massapequa looking down upon a body and brokenly he said:

"It is my child—Mary Helen." She had died after a struggle. That much was clear, for her clothing was torn and there were bruises on her body. But it did not appear she had been attacked criminally. Stains found on her clothing are being analyzed. Police thought they might be iodine or some dark liquid hurled at the girl by a sadist slayer.

The murder place is a real estate development with sidewalks laid out without residence. A workman found the body as he was clearing brush.

The overnight bag she carried when she left home and her purse have not been found. Her hat, one stocking and her pumps were four hundred yards from the body. One police theory is that the girl was taken from an automobile near where her body was later found and that she fought for a distance of 50 feet or more before being clubbed to death.

A ransom note demanding $1,000 for the girl's safe return was received by O'Connor last night.

Sandino Embraces Guardsman
As He Arrives for Peace Parley

(Associated Press Copyright, 1933) Managua, Nicaragua, Feb. 3.—Gen. Augusto Sandino, liberal Nicaraguan leader, with whose forces the Nicaraguan government and the United States marines have engaged in numerous combats, arrived at the presidential palace Thursday to discuss terms under which he would make peace with the country.

He was dressed picturesquely in gabardine trousers, a blue jacket, high boots, wore a red handkerchief around his neck and carried an automatic pistol and field glasses.

Some time after he had been closeted in the presidential mansion with President Sacasa, members of his cabinet and high government officials, General Sandino issued a statement in which he sent his regards to the American people and said it was the duty of Nicaraguans to establish peace.

The statement read: "Why discuss the basis of peace? It is our duty as Nicaraguans to establish it, as we are all brothers. I have nothing against North Americans personally. Let them come and work here. However, for them to come as our bosses we should not accept. I send my regards to the American people."

The general came here by plane direct from his mountain headquarters in the northern part of the country, accompanied by three of the members of a peace commission he authorized recently to carry on preliminary negotiations. The members of the commission were Salvador Ramirez Calderon, Horacio Portocarrero and Dr. Pedro Jose Zepeda.

Sandino's father, who was said to have participated in the conference several days ago at which a protocol setting out the terms under which the general would accept peace was drawn up, also was in the plane, which was piloted by Julio Zinser, a Mexican.

The general was met upon his arrival at the airport by a National Guard officer who is in charge of the aviation field. The officer greeted Sandino and offered to shake hands. Sandino replied by embracing him and saying:

"Let us embrace. We are brothers. I come in peace. We will have no more war. We are free and independent."

Then he turned and greeted National Guard troops who were on the field saying, "Guardias, we are all brothers." He was then taken by automobile to the presidential palace, stopping only once at his parents' home, where he greeted his mother. The consensus here was that the chances for peace were good, but details of any arrangements which might be made were not known.

Due to a surplus of reserve second lieutenants of infantry, engineers and signal corps now assigned to the three reserve divisions in the third corps area, this year's graduates of R. O. T. C. institutions will not be assigned to three divisions as formerly, instructions issued today at third corps area headquarters announce.

The thirteen graduate officers of the Gettysburg college R. O. T. C. will be assigned to some regiment where vacancies exist or will be assigned to what is called a general pool for definite assignment later. The officers graduating from the local unit this year are: Cadet Major R. F. Sheely, Captains Gordon D. Whitcraft, G. A. Karns and G. E. Painter, and First Lieutenants R. A. Evans, L. A. Lenker, John Gnaue, Frank A. Beachley, R. C. Cronlund, J. L. Gillespie, C. D. Leatherman, A. K. Buchanan and John R. Strevig. All thirteen men have completed the prescribed four year course and all saw service in camp last summer. Some may attend camp this year as reserve officers.

Students who receive their commissions as second lieutenants in these branches upon graduation this year will be assigned to corps area service command units, active and inactive units of the regular army, and in the case of infantry officers to tank regiments.

Transfers to the field artillery and coast artillery, where a shortage in reserve second lieutenants now exists, is also authorized. Such transfers may be made in the discretion of the corps area commander without examination, instructions to the heads of military departments at the various senior R. O. T. C. institutions state.

"Rothensties, who is secretary to Congressman Harry L. Haines, is remembered best, as an actor, for his portrayal of the role of 'Kid Burns' in 'Forty-five Minutes From Broadway' and the leading comedy role in 'Pattie'.

During the world war, Rothensties attained the rank of captain and command of the machine gun company of the 321st infantry. He was graduated from Duke university, where he won fame as an athlete, and, after graduation, became acquainted with 'Hinkle' Haines while playing professional baseball. After coaching athletics at his 'alma mater' in 1924, Rothensties came to Red Lion, in 1922, and built the Lion, theater, which he operated for several years. Later he sold the theater to the Appell interests and became associated with that theatrical enterprise. His connection with the theatrical business was severed when the Appell company's string of theaters was sold."

Held to but one field goal during the entire first half, the Gettysburg Fleet-Wings put on a fast second half rally to defeat the St. Mary's club at York Thursday night, 33-28. Seely's lone twin-pointer was the only score from the field made by the Wings in the first twenty minutes of action. At half time the St. Mary's aggregation was out in front, 10-6.

"Hen" Bream, Reilly and Witmer featured the powerful Wing attack in the second half and it was their fine goal tossing that put the locals out in front.

Near the close of the game Seely and Kelley were ejected from the game after "mixing" during a hot scrimmage for the ball.

Monday night the Wings will meet the Charlestown American Legion quintet of Charlestown, West Virginia, on the local court.

BULLETS MEET
DREXEL CAGERS
HERE SATURDAY

Washington, Feb. 3 (AP).—Miss Gertrude Horne, 47, a member of the wealthy Pittsburgh department store family, was married here Thursday to Major General Adelbert Cronkhite, 72, retired army officer who led the Eighty division to France during the World war.

Major General Cronkhite was retired from the army in 1923 after a long fight to clear the military record of his only son, Major Alexander Pennington Cronkhite, who met death in a mysterious way while leading a party of the 213th engineers on a practice march near Camp Lewis, Wash. The finding of the inquiry board noted the major had killed himself accidentally.

The major general sought help from the war and justice departments, with the result that two men were arrested, one of whom confessed to killing the major, who had been in command. Neither was convicted.

BULLETS MEET
HERE SATURDAY

Hen Bream's Orange and Blue cagers will attempt to annex another league victory Saturday night when they meet the Drexel dribblers in the Eddie Plank gymnasium.

There will be but one game Saturday. The Ashland high-Gettysburg college freshmen tilt has been cancelled by Ashland's coach, Eddie Gulian.

Coach Bream has not announced his starting line-up for this week's engagement. Last week Coach Bream benched Dracha and Olke-wicz and substituted Flynn and McMillen who showed up well in the Albright engagement Wednesday night. It is believed that Captain Jones, McMillen, Howard, Kitzmiller and Flynn will start Saturday's battles.

On February 10 Ursinus comes here for a league game and on February 15, the strong Franklin and Marshall aggregation meets the Bullets here.

Maroon Frosh
Win Two Games

Gettysburg high school's fast stepping freshman basketball team journeyed to York Thursday night to wallop Phineas Davis junior high, 35-19. In the preliminary game, the frosh reserves downed the Phineas Davis scrubs 11-5.

Coach Forney's cagers gave a brilliant performance in downing the York countians, holding a substantial lead throughout the entire contest.

The locals showed a well balanced attack with each of the regulars breaking into the scoring column, Shaner leading the assault with fifteen points.

Buying Barbara

By Julia Cleft-Addams

SYNOPSIS: Swiftly, it comes out that although Sir James Cane has cheated Barbara Quentin of her inheritance, both Mrs. Lodely friend of Barbara, and Lella Cane, Sir James' daughter, have known the facts for some time. Mrs. Lodely wanted to marry her gifted but cruel son, Mark, to Barbara; Lella in desperation used her knowledge to blackmail her father, Farrell Armitage, to make the revelations, and he loves Barbara. Farrell's secretary, Kenneth Poole, follows Lella, and proposes.

Chapter 47

ONE EMERALD LESS

"I don't think that's a graceful way of referring to a proposal of marriage."

"Then I'll put it this way—that I tried to marry Mark for love and I tried to marry Farrell for money and both of 'em turned me down. I won't marry anyone else just to save my face."

"Here's the river." They crossed the wide, shining ribbon of the Embankment and came up to the parapet. She opened her hand and flung Mark's emerald out into the dark. For a second the gleam of a street-lamp caught it and rayed up, wickedly green. Then it was gone. Poole's shoulder touched hers.

"I wish you'd send your ring the same way. The ring you wear on your left hand. I've never liked it."

"Better return that to father. He gave it to me, and he'll need every penny." She leaned heavily against his shoulder, feeling the strength melt from her limbs. "Just a minute and then I must go and pack for Kings Mallard. I wonder how he'll take it? Do you think that in our common bereavement father and I will learn to understand each other better?"

"No. Besides, you won't have enough time. We sail on the twenty-third for the Cape. I'm taking over permanent management of one of Armitage's concerns out there."

"Thanks, all the same, but any sailing I do will be with father and mother."

"Do you honestly care a lot for Lodely?" he asked. "I mean, isn't he sort of an obsession?"

"I don't think so. I'm not like Barbara."

"Well, only because she'd signed on with him before you got there, as I understand it. If she can consider Farrell, why can't you consider me?"

"You utter goat, there's no comparison!"

"Don't be impertinent! I'm as good a man as Armitage. Ask him."

"Ah, but I'm not as good as Barbara."

"I've heard a lot about Barbara Quentin and she may be as wonderful as you all say. I don't doubt it. But what you did just now takes a lot of beating—to stand up and chuck a vote of thanks back because you haven't deserved it. If you'd shut up, no one would ever have known."

"There is someone who would have known; knows already. Mr. Frere."

"Who's he?"

"He's a clergyman. He's almost my only friend. I told him about those shares once and asked him what I ought to do."

"And what was his advice?"

"He said if I needed advice on a matter like that I wasn't likely to take it anyway."

"Shrewd old boy! Now, look here, I'll make you a fair offer. Will you marry me if and when Armitage marries Barbara Quentin?"

"No, because," her voice faltered and she had to start again.

"Because in one way—not in Barbara's way, but in a small-town-conventional-Kings-Mallard way, I am bound to Mark."

"But if that doesn't mean anything?" he offered at last. "To me, I mean, or to you?"

"Ah, but I'm beginning to know that it does mean something to me. So I think it would be a good idea if we said goodbye now, don't you?"

"Must we, Lella?"

"I think so, Ken. I'll always wish you 'good meal-times.' Goodbye."

"All right. If you say so. Goodbye."

The announcement as it appeared in the social columns was simple. A marriage, said the column, had been arranged between Miss Barbara Quentin and Mr. Mark Lodely.

Mr. Mark Lodely was, of course, the brilliant portrait painter who by his portrait of Sir Robert Philhay had caught the serious attention of the critics, and by his portrait of Miss Patsy Raoul, the most daring disease on today's stage, had forced the man in the street to stop and stare, and smile.

Miss Quentin was, of course, known to an exclusive circle as a decorator and designer. Her successful treatment of Miss Patsy Raoul's house had laid the cornerstone of her reputation and her partnership with the renowned Jacques Malavie, Ltd., had carried her to further successes.

Lella Cane read the news in the modest London flat which was now her parents' home.

"Mark and Barbara are going to be married, mother."

"Well, my dear, they've been engaged long enough, I'm sure. And they can well afford a beautiful home together now. Why, they could buy South-the-Water if they wanted it! It's a shame!"

"Don't you realize, mother, that if it hadn't been for Barbara's insane generosity we shouldn't have even this flat; we should have to sit about in fourth-rate continental pensions for the rest of our lives?"

Lella gave it up. Her mother had retired to bed on arrival from Kings Mallard and although she was not exactly ill, she was not well and Lella did not expect her to recover. The mouse had taken refuge in the nearest hole and would venture out no more.

Lella took her paper along to the sitting-room where her father was finishing a heavy breakfast. In spite of herself she had an admiration for him. When, a few months earlier she had brought him Barbara's decision (that she wished the money divided between the Lodelys, the Canes and herself) he had done no more than chirp brightly—"Indeed! Yes. I expected no less. No doubt it is what poor Quentin would have wished."

Although it was making her late for the position Barbara had got her with Malavie, Lella waited until her father finished his final cup of coffee.

"Barbara and Mark are going to be married, father."

"Really? Well, it's been a long engagement," the old man said quietly.

Still another suitor enters the lists, tomorrow, for Barbara's hand.

STATE HIGHWAY PATROL REPORT SHOWS VARIETY

Patrolmen Recover 692 Stolen Vehicles; Year's Operations Revealed.

More than 1,000,000 passenger cars, trucks and buses were inspected by the state highway patrol in 1932. The exact number was 1,074,924. Of this total, safety equipment was checked on 990,448 vehicles and adjustments or repairs ordered made on 277,742. Highway patrolmen weighed 59,466 trucks and measured 32,333. They also measured 2,676 buses.

As part of its work against reckless operation of trucks and buses, the highway patrol timed 36,255 trucks and 17,426 buses for speeding. Highway patrolmen arrested 929 truck drivers and 194 bus operators for this offense.

During the year, patrolmen traveled 5,243,551 miles in state-owned motor equipment in the performance of duty. That life it not just one continuous ride for the patrol is revealed by the fact that patrolmen covered 387,036 miles afoot in the line of duty.

Seek Information
The dependence which the motoring public has learned to place on the patrol is shown by the 427,852 requests for information made of patrolmen on regular patrol duty in 1932, and by the 138,628 personal requests for information or aid made at the various sub-stations. In addition, motorists contacted sub-stations 296,294 times by telephone.

Included in this service to the public was the recovery of 692 stolen motor vehicles having an estimated value of $29,193; also the recovery of personal property belonging to motorists of an estimated value of $14,144. Accidents totaling 9,517 were investigated and in many cases prompt arrival of highway patrolmen saved life and property.

Arrests for all law violations during the year totaled 29,127. Of the 161,968 applicants for driving licenses examined by highway patrolmen in 1932, 41,518 were rejected.

SHOULDER SEAMS IMPORTANT

A properly placed shoulder seam acts as an anchor to a well fitted dress, says the United States bureau of home economics, discussing home dressmaker problems. The seam should be located carefully and the shoulders should be the first part of the dress fitted. The material should be smooth over the chest and shoulder blades.

WATCH THE BUTTER CROCK

When butter is kept in the home in a glazed earthen ware crock it is important that the glazing be perfect. Otherwise the crocks absorb butter and soon become unsanitary.

FORESTS YIELD WOOD TO NEEDY

Approximately 6,600 People Benefited By Wood Taken From State Forests.

The state forests have supplied 13,800 cords of free fuelwood to needy families in Pennsylvania this winter, Lewis E. Stahley, secretary of the department of forests and waters, announced today. Since last October, 1667 free wood permits have been issued to welfare agencies and individuals. In addition there were eighty-six unemployment relief projects in the state forests which gave employment to some 1800 men.

State forestry officials estimate that at least 6600 persons were directly or indirectly benefited. The work was supervised by the forest rangers and consisted of improvement cuttings and the construction and repair of state forest roads, trails, telephone lines, and boundaries.

In most instances the men were assigned to the forest areas by counties and municipal welfare agencies, which furnished the workers with food orders in return for labor. In a few counties the workmen were paid direct. According to Secretary Stahley, many families living in the more remote and mountainous sections of the state, who ordinarily are not benefited by relief funds spent for public improvements, were provided with fuel, food, and money from the state forest relief projects.

State foresters estimate that some 2300 acres have been improved by the removal of dead and fallen timber and the elimination of forest fire hazards.

"Fuel wood from the state forests," said Stahley, "is ordinarily sold by the department of forests and waters, but to assist families who are in want, the department has issued free wood permits to the destitute who are without funds to purchase fuel."

A new hand truck has been equipped with semicircular arms to hold the tops of bags that are to be filled.

WELFARE COSTS SHOW DECLINE

Cost Of Conducting State Institutions Revealed As Lower Than Ten Years Ago.

The cost of conducting state institutions under supervision of the Pennsylvania department of welfare during the past year was less than the cost ten years ago, a comparison made by the department has revealed. In reporting progress made in management of the institutions during the decade the department reports that despite necessary improvements and reorganizations, per capita daily costs during 1932 averaged $960 while the same costs in 1922 averaged $980.

During the ten year period several institutions, notably the eastern and western penitentiaries and the state industrial school at Huntingdon, were completely reorganized under new management. All of the state penal and correctional institutions now rank with the best in the country.

New Methods

Since 1922 the state mental hospitals have introduced new treatment facilities and new methods of medical and nursing care; better trained physicians were employed, while the schools for the training of nurses and attendants were improved. The Wernersville state hospital was transformed from an institution for the care of the so-called chronic insane into a hospital for the treatment of all types of mental patients.

The schools for mental defectives have been developed and improved, department officials said. They now function definitely as training schools. The Selinsgrove state colony for epileptics was established during the decade, marking the beginning of the state's recognition of the need for epileptic patients.

The medical and surgical hospitals, as a group, show an increase in costs. Phillipsburg affords the one exception.

Physical plants of all the institutions are in far better condition than when the decade opened, and they are less generally overcrowded than in 1922. Lowered price levels of 1932 were cited by department officials as partially responsible for the saving in operating costs, while further savings were effected through strict adherence to a program of economical management.

Jamaica exported more than 20,000,000 bunches of bananas last year.

Chesterfields are Milder

WHEN you ask a Chesterfield smoker why that's his brand—he generally comes right out flat-footed and says... "It's because They're Milder!"

So we're going to keep on doing everything we know how to keep them that way.

That's why we look for and buy the mildest and ripest tobaccos we can get. That's why we age them in our warehouses till they're mellow and sweet.

We believe that even the shredding of the tobacco... and the quality of the paper it's rolled in, have a lot to do with the even-drawing, mild smoke that people enjoy in Chesterfields.

You can bank on this... every method known to science is used to make Chesterfield a milder, better-tasting cigarette that satisfies.

Zinkand—Dorsch: A pretty but quiet wedding was solemnized Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Mary E. Dorsch, Waynesboro, when her daughter,
Miss Mary J. Dorsch, was married to William C. Zinkand, of Gettysburg, by the pastor of the bride, the Rev. J. Marshall Rutherford.

The bride wore an attractive gown of crepe meteor and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and sweet peas.

After a wedding breakfast, Mr.
and Mrs. Zinkand left on a wedding trip to Baltimore, Washington and Philadelphia. Upon their return they will reside in Gettysburg.

Irvin—Hall: John Irvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Irvin, of Buchanan Valley, and Miss Mary Hall, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Hall, were married at a nuptial mass in St. Ignatius church Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock by the Rev.
W. W. Whalen. The attendants were Blaire Irvin and Paul Stein-berger.

They will reside in Buchanan Valley.

Read The Bible
With Us Daily

The Lord sent a word into Jacob, and it hath lighted upon Israel.

And all the people shall know, even Ephraim and the inhabitant of Samaria, that say in the pride and stoutness of heart,

The bricks are fallen down, but we will build with hewn stones; the sycamores are cut down, but we will change them into cedars.

Therefore the Lord shall set up the adversaries of Rezin against him, and join his enemies together;

The Syrians before, and the Philistines behind; and they shall devour Israel with open mouth.
For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

For the people turneth not unto him that smiteth them, neither do they seek the Lord of hosts.

Therefore the Lord will cut off Israel head and tail, branch and rush, in one day.

The ancient and honorable, he is the prophet that teacheth lies, he is the tail.

For the leaders of this people cause them to err; and they that are led of them are destroyed.

Therefore the Lord shall have no joy in their young men, neither shall have mercy on their fatherless and widows; for every one is a hypocrite and an evil doer, and every mouth speaketh folly. For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

For wickedness burneth as the fire: it shall devour the briars and thorns, and shall kindle in the thickets of the forest, and they shall mount up like the lifting up of smoke.

Through the wrath of the Lord of hosts is the land darkened, and the people shall be as the fuel of the fire: no man shall spare his brother.

And he shall snatch on the right hand, and be hungry; and he shall eat on the left hand, and yet shall not be satisfied; they shall eat every man the flesh of his own arm:

Manasseh, Ephraim; and Ephraim, Manasseh; and they together shall be against Judah.
For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

STRUGGLE

Why ask from life such tender care
As to escape its every blow,
Who has not had a grief to bear
The beauty of it doesn't know,
Who has been ever safe and warm
Has missed the grandeur of a storm.

A foolish man is he, indeed,
Who takes not comfort when he can,
But every page of life we read Proclaims that struggle makes the man.
Nations stamp medals just to tell
The fame of those who battle well.

I would not try to feed with words
The hungry, nor with speech to cure
Men's agonies, but beasts and birds
Have no such sorrows to endure.
They live and die and never seem
To battle for a broken dream.

'Tis man alone who copes with fate,
Who questions life; has doubts
and fears,
Losses and gains, and soon or late,
Must suffer sorrow and its tears.
Only to man, who should be proud,
Is the high gift of strife allowed.

If Your Ears Ring
With Head Noises.

People who are growing hard of hearing and who experience a stuffy feeling of pressure against their ear drums, accompanied by buzzing, rumbling sounds in the head like water falling or steam tive measures to stop this trouble.

Secure from People's Drug Store or your

Take this home and add 1 pint hot water and a little sugar.

One tablespoonful four times a day should quickly relieve distressing earrings, head noises, open clogged nasals, make breathing easy, stop annoying mucus discharge. All catarrh sufferers should give Parmit a trial.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

MEANT FOR US

I HAVE always thought of Robert Browning as a very dignified, quiet sort of a poet. Perhaps he was just that. I got a different idea of him, however, when I saw the play of the Brownings with Katherine Cornell as Mrs. Browning. Mr. Browning in that play was all youth and action and faith and—well, like a fine, fresh breeze that often comes to us on a very hot day.

I am a great deal confirmed in this latter idea since reading this quotation from Robert Browning: "There's a world of capability for joy spread round about us, meant for us, inviting us."

Whenever we are thrilled by a marvelous sight in nature, or through some fine phrase in literature, or by some heroic act of some human being, that which we immediately gain for ourselves was really meant for us.
There isn't a single joy that comes to us that wasn't meant for us.
As a matter of fact, we needlessly avoid many and many a joy.

David Grayson speaks so often in his writings of the happiness and peace that he experiences, and has experienced, after long trips away from home. He selected a lovely spot beside a great tree in a little town in Massachusetts, and there built him a home as he wanted it to be—looking over a vast and beautiful country. And from that spot, as a centre, he moves about to the fields, the forests, and to humble homes—giving and gaining in happiness.

There is so much that is means for us, so much that actually invites us to partake of its beauty and nourishment. How much we ignore, or pass by, unthinkingly!

Every beautiful day that draws was meant for us—for you and for me, for everybody.

There is much more meant for us in this world than we ever come to realize, and daily we pass by gifts that might have enriched our whole lives. Golden birthrights are vouchsafed to us each day. All meant for us—each inviting us to take them as our own in fee simple.

Reports On Seed Used At Nurseries

More than 1,600 pounds of tree seeds and 844 bushels of walnuts and acorns were sown last year in the four state nurseries located at Clearfield, Clearfield county; Mont Alto, Franklin county; Greenwood Furnace, Huntingdon county; and Potters Mills, Centre county.

Most of the tree seeds sown in the state forest nurseries are now collected by foresters and rangers in the state forests at considerable saving, inasmuch as some varieties of tree seed formerly sold for as much as $15 a pound.

Nine hundred bushels of walnuts, 219 pounds of hemlock seed, and 125 bushels of red oak acorns, in addition to lesser amounts of other kind of tree seeds, were collected and extracted last year.

COUNTRY DOCTOR ATTENDS

BIRTH EVERY OTHER DAY

Tuka, Miss. (AP)—Dr. A. F. Whitehurst, of Tuka, has been designated by the state bureau of vital statistics as Mississippi's champion stork doctor.

Records at the state capital reveal that Dr. Whitehurst attended 165 births in Mississippi in 1931 and 115 during the first nine months of 1932. Situated as he is in north-east Mississippi, the bureau said, the doctor also was called to attend births in Tennessee and Alabama.

 LET ME TELL YOU PERSONALLY
THE AMAZING STORY OF NATEX

 I can show you how to quickly and easily restore the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to better health and activity thru this wonderful new prescription.

 I wish it were possible to extend an invitation to every sick, ailing and rundown man or woman in this vicinity to come in to see me and learn from me personally about the surprising new prescription tonic which has already created so much talk since its recent introduction.

 Here is a real medicine you cannot afford to ignore, an opportunity to build up the vibrant, buoyant health, the keen appetite and the energy and ambition which you may be lacking now.

 If you are not feeling in the best of health or rather half sick so that you can't do your best work, there is no excuse for it. If stomach troubles are torturing you from day to day so that your appetite has diminished away and the food that you do eat creates gas and brings on indigestion, heartburn, dyspepsia and other ailments, here is a new way to get quick and real relief.

 If your liver, in inactive in the suffer with constipation, headaches, dizziness, spots before the eyes, coated tongue and other liver ills, you have only to try this new prescription and relief will come quickly and positively. If your kidneys are deranged and are unable to drain the impurities from the blood which cause rheumatic suffering, neuritis, backaches, etc., do not delay for each day's delay means that the work of recovery becomes increasingly hard.

 If you feel lazy and indolent and tired, and wake up in the morning feeling as though you have worked hard all through the night, it is only because the various organs of your body are not functioning properly and here is a new, quick and sure way to get relief.

 But all the words in the world won't tell you one half as much about Natex and what it will do for you as a trial of the medicine itself.
Go to Bender's Cut Rate Store, 16
Baltimore St. Let them tell you more about this amazing prescription and notice the change in even one week's time and what new vibrant health it brings you after a month's treatment. Accept no substitute for there is no other medicine like Natex.

amount of payments and other details must be worked out by the legislature.

LEFTOVER TOAST USABLE
IN VARIETY OF DISHES Leftover toast may be rolled and used for coating croquettes or for sprinkling over the tops of escalloped mixtures. It may be crumbled or cut into small pieces and used in puddings, meat or fish loaves.

Another way to use it is to cut it into small cubes or strips, reheat to freshen it, and then serve with soups, appetizers or salads.
Use a sharp knife when cutting toast to prevent it crumbling.

WHAT have we HERE?

 A total national wealth greater than that of 12 European countries combined.

 More home owners than any other nation.

 More telephones and radios, and three times as many automobiles as all the rest of the world put together.

 A land richer in experience, in inventive genius, in scientific resources than ever before.

And more men and women with money in the bank. . . . Are you one of them?
